STATEMENT OF JOHN N. McMAHON, DEPUTY DIRECTOR OF CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE

I am anxious to refute The Washington Post reference to my views of our Nicaraguan activities in the article which appeared in its 13 April 1984 edition. While Director Casey encourages lively debate on all of our intelligence proposals, he and I are of one mind when it comes to Agency programs including those to counter the threat of the Sandinistas to the stability and peace of Central America. This position is also shared among other senior Agency officials.
